

Technical Buyer

Are you a Technical Buyer who combines technical knowledge and buying skills? Is it your passion to manage the purchasing process together with your colleagues and optimize it where necessary? In that case we would like to welcome you in our technical and innovative organization.

This will be your job:

As a Technical Buyer, you are responsible for the purchasing process of our machines, together with the purchasing team. You are present during the kick-off meeting, prepare quotations, select suppliers for the required materials, negotiate costs and delivery agreements and order the required materials.

During the entire process you monitoring the planning, delivery time and the associated costs, so that all materials are available at the agreed time. You manage the projects with our suppliers, engineers, workshop and project managers and consistently maintaining a positive and entrepreneurial attitude to develop and contributing to our company culture.

Success is yours by:

- Determining material requirements and selecting suppliers;
- Setting up and following up on purchase orders;
- Building and maintaining contact with suppliers;
- Monitoring the pre-made planning regarding delivery times and costs;
- Assessing supplier performance;
- Optimizing our internal purchasing process.

What we ask of you:

- HBO working and thinking level with a technical or business education background;
- Minimum 3 years proven experience in a similar position;
- You are creative, curious and able to communicate on various levels;
- Knowledge of a project-driven organization;
- Experience with ERP Systems (PWR-Pack works with Ridder IQ);
- Extensive experience with office packages (Word and Excel);
- Excellent Dutch and English language skills (written and spoken).

You get this from PWR:

- Working for a technically advanced organization where innovation plays an important role; who wouldn't want that?
- Join #teamPWR; pleasant ambiance, friendly & enthusiastic colleagues and yearly company activities.
- A fulltime job position (40 hours/week) with flexible working times and of course a matching salary and secondary employment conditions (25 vacation days and 13 ADV).
- Focus on personal vitality (budget for sports), development and education.

Convinced we will be a good match?

Now it is up to you! If you want to know more, please contact Jan-Willem Tent, Recruiter a.i. If you want to apply directly, send an e-mail with a short motivation and CV to recruitment@pwrpack.com. See you soon!

About us:

PWR is the specialist for custom-made automated robotic packaging solutions in the Food industry. We are specialized in high speed packaging of products with Delta robots. Our products are premium technical solutions of which we master the technology which we constantly develop.

We understand our customers' needs by engaging with them throughout the entire process. With the most up to date technology we ensure the highest running efficiencies, minimum down time, low cost of ownership and the best price to value ratio in the industry. A good relationship with our customers is a vital part of our company.

PWR is active globally with our head office located in Ede, central in the Netherlands. Check our website for more information www.pwrpack.com

Ps. With this vacancy we like to recruit our new colleague. Acquisition following this job opening is not appreciated.

We treat every application confidential and will handle your details likewise. We will never without permission share your personal details with third parties. We only use your data to process your application and match you with one or more vacancies. We will save your data until 4 weeks after ending the application process. Only with your permission we will save your data until 12 months after ending the procedure. You can contact PWR at any time with a request to remove your data or withdraw your permission.

